This result is all that the most ardent American could desire, and must cause universal rejoicing wherever there may be Americans throughout the world. It says to the world, that this cruel war, begun by the slaveholders, must now be prosecuted by the nation, in the way it is being carried on, till they surrender. It endorses the policy of the administration, as the only way to make peace. It sustains the man who four years ago was chosen to be the standard bearer, and reiterates to the world in his own acetious language, that it isn't wise " to swap horses in the middle of the stream." It sustains its soldiers and their armies in the field, and assures us, in the language of Gen. Grant, after the seven days' battles in the wilderness, that the American people " propose to fight it out on this line, if it takes" four years longer. It tells the world that the American Nation, by a majority of nearly half a million of votes, is determined to remain united.

These are the lessons which the election teaches us, and they make us glad and proud of our country. Some foreign nations have been hoping to see an unruly and insolent faction raised to power to make humiliating terms of peace with the slaveholders. They are disappointed, as the rebels themselves have been.

Under the President, the generals, and the soldiers that the Republic has now guaranteed to it for the next four years, we have no fears but that, during that time, the rebellion will be

An Echo from over the Sea.

The news of the triumphant election of Lincoln and Johnson was received in Honolulu with every demonstration of joy. Immediately on its announcement, flags ran up to the mast heads of every ship in the harbor, over the streets, on the tops and out of windows of stores and dwelling-houses, all over the city. Out of respect to the memory of the late King, on the anniversary of whose death, (Nov. 30,) the news reached us, all further demonstration was postponed to December 1st. During the latter day, the shipping and town was as profusely decked with bunting as on the previous, and from

In the evening, soon after sunset, a national salute of 36 guns was fired from the head of Emma street, which was followed by a display of fireworks and bonfires which lighted up the city for miles around.

Several dwellings were brilliantly illuminated, among which we observed those of the Minister Resident, A. J. Cartwright, Alfred D. Cartwright, Henry A. P. Carter, H. Y. Ludington, Rev. S. C. Damon, Daniel Foster, Coller's International Hotel, Burgess' Saloon, and others. Several of the larger houses illuminated, made a fine show. From various points, ashore and

The American Minister's residence was illuminated and open to the public, and many gentlemen and ladies paid him their respects and

The residence of the American Consul was, however, the great center of attraction it having been thrown open to the public during the evening. The guests were not confined to Americans, but embraced ladies and gentlemen of every nationality, and the festivities and dance continued till after midnight.

At the termination of the fireworks, a procession formed on Emma street, headed by a band and transparency. The mottoes on the latter were, "We don't swap horses in the middle of a stream," " I propose to fight it out on this line," " Ballot is King," and " No peace without Union." As the procession passed each illuminated house, it stopped, while the band played a national air, and three cheers were given for the resident. During the evening, and until after midnight, the streets were alive with crowds viewing the novel sights, and the general opinion is that no such demonstration has ever been witnessed before in Honolula. It has shown that Americans living here are one in heart and soul with their countrymen at home, and that their loyalty is beyond a doubt.

The war news received by the Onward was very interesting. Although Gen. Grant has up and present a petition to His Majerry, setting forth the views of the Chamber, and begging him to veto the bill just passed the Leruizaure, placing a dusy of 12 cts. per pound upon foreign rice—said petition to be signed by all the members of the Chamber of Commerce, who are in favor of this resolution. made no decisive advance movement, it will be observed that he is quietly creeping around on the westward of Petersburg, so that now he is within hailing distance of the Southside Railroad. As this is an insportant position, and threatens the capture of that railroad, the rebels Considerable discussion then took place on have stationed large forces in front of the Union armies, which have had two or three collisions about the 4th and 5th of November, in which, which, the following resolution was offered and | as the report says, the rebels were sent whirling back to their lines, with a loss of about 2,000 on each side. The pirate Florida has been captured by the steamer Wachusett (not Massachusetts,) but but whether at Bahia, Brazil, or at the Bahamas, does not appear clear. One statement says the former place, another says the latter. If the capture took place in Brazilian waters, probably nothing will ever be heard of it, as that nation would be as glad to see the Florida captured or sunk as the American. If it occurred in British waters, there may be some notice taken of it.

Large Fire .- About 31 o'clock on Tuesday last, an alarm of fire was given which proved to be the dwelling of W. E. Cuttrell, Esq., in Nauanu. Before the engines arrived, the entire after part of the building was in flames. Had there been water near crushed out and be known only among the things by, the front portion might perhaps have been saved, but it proved almost impossible to obtain water, and thatunder great difficulty. As a consequence, the whole building was swept away, including all the furniture, and clothing of the family. The fire is supposed to have been originated by children playing with matches, and before it was discovered had reached the roof. So rapid was its progress, that the ladies and children had barely time to escape with their been so clearly demonstrated by this fire, that we six or eight be erected between the Commercial Hotel and the reservoir. THE LEGISLATURE is still in session, but so far as we can learn has done but little the past week, uness the enacting of a heavy duty of 50 to 75 per cent. on rice imported for the Chinamen, be considered as important. Every foreigner in the house opposed this measure, except C. C. Harris, Esq., who, with the help of the native members, rushed it through before it was heard of outside of the house. On Thursday evening, Mr. Kauwahi gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill taxing gold watches and beaver hats-every man who owns a beaver or a watch to pay five dollars a year. Mr Hopkins got up and gave the members a sound and well deserved lecture, for spending their time in silly and unimpertant speeches, and in trying to pass more silly laws. The Legislature couldn't do a wiser thing than to fix next Saturday for its final adjournment.
